++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Sunny spells developing quite widely.

Today:
Mostly dry with long spells of sunshine across the mainland and becoming very warm or hot. More cloud over the Western Isles and the far northwest of Sutherland with the odd spot of drizzle, cooler here. Light winds. Maximum temperature 25 deg C (77 deg F).

Tonight:
After a sunny evening over most of the mainland, the low cloud in the far northwest will edge south across North Highland and Inverness, while Lochaber stays clear overnight. Minimum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Tuesday:
A cloudy start in the north most of this burning off as the sunnier skies over Lochaber extend across Highland. Cloud lingering longer over the Isles, brightening later. Very warm. Maximum temperature 25 deg C (77 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
A good deal of fine dry and sunny weather, and becoming hot. Increasingly sunny and hot for the Northwest and Isles too. Still some early morning low cloud in places.
